Total Days

- Make sure you have averaged 4 hours per day and completed 172 days of instruction. Instruction includes any time the student is studying or learning; it includes more than the time you sit with the child actually instructing the child. Religious instruction also counts.
- You should be keeping a more detailed log for your personal records. We do not need to see any other work, unless you are in our high school Diploma Program.
- If you are home educating more than one child you may separate children's hours with a slash. For example, 4/5/6 would mean: child one worked 4 hours/child two worked 5 hours/ child three worked 6 hours.
